The Farm Act of 1938 set a national ceiling of 18,310,000 lbs. on cotton, broken down between states and then to respective counties. Each farm of history had an allotment—even though individual farmers do not get an allotment, do not expect to plant cotton, have no laboring equipment, and in a sense have no longer cotton farmers. The same problems apply to those who do not intend to use a

SATISFACTION
